Mission

To support impact-driven entrepreneurship through ecosystem development, education, and impact investment, leveraging Flywheel's infrastructure.

Vision

We envision a world where entrepreneurship is accessible to anyone and the resources needed are readily available.

Values

Healthy communities through economic opportunity. Diversity of thought and experience. Action and progress. Catalyze connections in ecosystems. Create access to all entrepreneurial journeys.

About the Flywheel Foundation

The Flywheel Foundation promotes healthy entrepreneurship ecosystems through events, accessible courses, and investment. We accelerate home-grown economic development with diverse pathways for inception-stage and growth-stage startups by partnering with an expanding network of non-profits, economic development organizations, corporations, and investors. We are committed to working with organizations who put entrepreneurs first, knowing that a resilient and inclusive economy benefits all.

Over eight years of operation, we have supported hundreds of founders as they work towards identifying problems in the market and creating unique, valuable solutions. Our network of mentors works hard to share their own experiences starting companies while helping founders become better at what they do – changing the world around them.

The Flywheel Foundation serves as connective tissue both within and across regional entrepreneurship ecosystems. Our role is to develop new programs that fill gaps in developmental support and capital access not currently addressed by support organizations within a region, and to connect regions, sharing expertise and best practices as Flywheel builds its network of innovation centers in the Southeastern United States.

Jill Atherton - Executive Director

Jill Atherton was selected by the Board of Directors in March of 2022 to lead the Foundation as Executive Director. Jill brings over 20 years of experience in economic development through the support of entrepreneurship.

As leader of the Technology Council in Winston-Salem, NC, Jill played a central role in the early days of Piedmont Triad Research Park, which is now flourishing as the Innovation Quarter.

During the early phase of the pandemic, she served as Business Resiliency advisor for the Small Business and Technology Development Center assisting businesses with financing, cash flow management and digital transformation.

With Jill at the helm, we can accelerate the deployment of our services in the regions we serve. Our corporate sponsors, partner programs and foundations focused on entrepreneurship are very interested in our growing scale and our founders-first approach. Jill's experience in developing these relationships is critical to our future success.

About Flywheel Innovation Communities.....

The Flywheel Foundation executes its mission through a network of purpose-driven innovation communities in the Southeast. Flywheel provides the affordable place and community infrastructure where startups and entrepreneurs flourish.

Flywheel designs and operates coworking innovation space in partnership with premier educational institutions and local community partners. We currently operate in the Triad Region of North Carolina served out of Winston-Salem, Greater Charlotte / Cabarrus served out of Concord, NC, and Upstate SC out of the Crescent Startup Community in Greenville, SC. Additional projects are in development in Lexington, NC, Greenwood, SC and North Wilkesboro, NC.

Our network will continue to grow throughout the Southeast in mid-size and smaller cities that have the right ingredients and community support for early-stage entrepreneurs.

The Flywheel Foundation enables an active coworking innovation model to build member communities and stimulate entrepreneurship – and that’s important. Our model helps college and university entrepreneurship programs engage with our co-located companies and programs. We actively assemble Entrepreneurship Service Organizations (ESOs) as resident program partners under one roof to efficiently deliver resources and capital.

At Flywheel, we’re passionate about building a purpose-driven community among our members. Our coworking culture helps our members develop personally and professionally. We are actively involved - not only providing the affordable, flexible space and amenities, but more importantly helping members accelerate their success through curated social and professional development events.

That’s our purpose – to make a difference for the entrepreneurs we serve, to help them succeed, and to create an environment where new ideas flourish, get market traction, find customers and become new projects and businesses.

Supporting Ecosystems

We recognize that a healthy startup ecosystem has multiple program partners who serve specific groups and provide mentorship and capital access for main street as well as scalable startups. We collaborate to eliminate gaps, reduce risk and optimize chances for success with a continuum of developmental resources and funding from inception to growth stage.

As Flywheel enters new markets, we work to provide connective tissue by helping to develop Entrepreneurship Leadership Councils, led by entrepreneurs and Entrepreneurship Service Organization (ESO) partners.

Flywheel's entrepreneurship curriculum is offered through an online learning management system (<https://flywheel.courses/>) which can be taken self-directed or through facilitator-led classes. The Foundation has developed three flights of curriculum:

- Early-Stage – a multimodule course offering based on lean startup practices applied to ideation, starting a startup, lean marketing, legal protection and financing pathways.
- Growth-Stage – courses that address the journey funded companies take to build an organization, manage operations, get alignment on execution, and navigate venture deals and other forms of funding.
- Hosted Courses – Flywheel partners with a variety of organizations and ESOs to develop their own curriculum and create 24/7 and instructor-led courses on our learning management system.

Our original content is developed in house with the support of successful entrepreneurs and investors. Additional content draws on trusted courseware from Stanford, MIT and a variety of online, print and video lecture resources that have proven to be of value to our startups over the years. Certificates are provided at the end of the class for students that complete the curriculum.
